

Local Tournament is Big Draw for Youth Wrestlers

With the post-season competition just over a month away, a growing number of Pierre youth wrestlers continued to wrestle in a number of tournaments throughout the state on January 28th through the 30th. “A large number of our kids traveled to Onida for their invitational tournament on Friday night, and this served first time a number of the kids wrestled in actual competition” said Paul Turman, Pierre Youth Wrestling president. “With practices starting just after Christmas, a number of newer families wait until they have four weeks of practice under their belt before venturing off to tournaments” he said.

Close to 50 of the club members competed in the tournament and it is expected that this number will increase significantly when results become available from the Ft. Pierre tournament which was held on February 6th. Turman indicated that “The largest number of our members compete in the Ft. Pierre tournament because it is so close and provides a good learning experience in a comfortable environment.” Members of the club also competed at tournaments at McCook Central, Spearfish, Kimball, Wessington Springs, Brookings, Kadoka, and Valentine Nebraska. Wrestling continues this upcoming weekend with 12 different tournaments around the state. Individual results for members of the Pierre program include:
